

*As human beings, our greatness lies not so much in being able to remake the world
—that is the myth of the atomic age—
as in being able to remake ourselves.*

Mahatma Gandhi