

"Any real change implies the breakup of the world as one always knew it, the loss of all that gives one identity, the end of safety"

James Baldwin